PUPPIES FOR SALE

A store owner was putting a sign above his door that read 'PUPPIES FOR SALE'. Signs like that have a way of attracting small children and a little boy immediately appeared under it. 'How much are you going to sell the puppies for?' he asked.

The man replied, 'Anywhere from £30 to £50.'

The boy reached in his pocket and pulled out some change. 'I have £2.37,' he said. 'Can I please look at them?'

The store owner smiled and whistled and out of the kennel came Lady who ran down the aisle of his store followed by five balls of fur. One puppy was lagging considerably behind. Immediately the little boy singled out the limping puppy and said, 'What's wrong with that little dog?'

The store owner explained that the vet had examined the puppy and discovered it didn't have a hip socket. It would always be lame. The little boy became excited. 'That is the little puppy I want to buy.'

The man said, 'If you really want him, I'll just give him to you.'

The child got quite upset. He looked straight into the owner's eyes and said, 'I don't want you to give it to me. That little dog is worth every bit as much as all the other dogs and I'll pay full price, I'll give you £2.37 now and 50 pence a month until I have him paid for.'

The store owner countered, 'But he is never going to run and jump and play with you like the other puppies.'

To this, the little boy reached down and rolled up his trousers' leg to reveal a badly twisted, crippled left leg supported by a big metal brace. He looked up at the store owner and softly replied, 'Well, I don't run so well myself, and the little puppy will need someone who understands.'
